

Enrique
K. Razon, Jr.

Infrastructure is the backbone of a strong economy and a modern society. Our business operates on this belief. By addressing the gaps in infrastructure, we aspire to help emerging markets meet their challenges and realize their potential for rapid economic growth. But more than providing essential services, we are laying the foundation for positive change through critical infrastructure. Our business model is structured to deliver positive social and environmental outcomes for all stakeholders, especially the host communities that we operate in.

Born out of the heritage of ICTSI's vast experience in successfully establishing and operating ports in emerging markets worldwide, Prime Infra has a strong reputation in project development and delivery, regulatory management, and long-term operations of infrastructure assets. Prime Infra is a strategic and reliable partner in creating meaningful value and lasting impact to customers. Together, we can build better lives and better economies.

Guillaume
Lucci

Our portfolio of core assets is at various stages of development and operations, and we actively explore new growth opportunities that will fortify our presence in emerging markets.

Guided by our values—passion, integrity, pioneering, tenacity and value creation—we deliver on our commitments with greater efficiency. Our team builds collaborative relationships with our partners, working in synergy with business units as we establish and transform each one of them into industry leaders.

The strength and competitive advantage of Prime Infra lie in the integration of sustainability at the core of its business framework. As we move towards our target of achieving worldwide expansion by 2030, we make sure that we are one step closer to the realization of a sustainable society.

Better lives and resilient economies, through critical infrastructure.

The Partner of Emerging Markets

Prime Infra is focused on providing essential services to our host communities in emerging markets through the delivery of a wide range of critical and socially relevant infrastructure. With our expertise in navigating the many regulatory and logistics challenges of the developing world, combined with our fast and lean management process, we ensure that our infrastructure assets can be put into operation quickly, cost-effectively, and in a sustainable manner. We also build strengthened partnerships with host communities through active development of significant and inclusive social and environmental programs, making us a true and trusted partner of the emerging world.

Sustainable, Fast, & Lean Management

Our Sustainable, Fast, & Lean Integrated Management Process allows us to deliver the most value to our clients with the least possible cost and in the shortest amount of time, assuring high standards and quick completion of our projects. Our approach nurtures a culture of innovation, driving us to constantly improve our processes and staying competitive in a rapidly changing market.

By retaining control of all assets, we ensure that this pragmatic sustainability can be maintained, and our promise of better lives through our portfolio of clean energy solutions, water and waste water services, and high quality infrastructure can be fulfilled for the long term. Thus, allowing us to stay committed to safeguarding productive operation and relevance to society well into the future.

A Diverse Range of Companies

With our wide range of companies operating in various industries such as energy, water, construction, and more, we are able to provide for the most basic and essential needs of our host communities, contributing to the development and prosperity of the entire country.