ON THIS CLAY

“Victory belongs to the most obstinate.” A pioneer of the air, Roland Garros* made this saying his personal motto. Over a century later, it still resonates in the stadium that bears his name. For here, on this clay, only the ones who can tame the surface, slide after slide, point after point, trace after trace, can hope to leave an indelible mark. Welcome to Roland-Garros.

*First aviator to cross the Mediterranean Sea, north to south non-stop (1913).
