

The 32nd BAIPHIL Convention to focus on ‘bringing out the best in banking’ for a better normal

The banking industry, like all other sectors, saw the urgency for transformation to keep up with the new normal brought by the pandemic. Bankers must continue to be conversant with the developments, such as in technology and the renewed focus on sustainability, to further do their best in their role to the economy, even as the country moves past the crisis and looks forward to a better normal.

Being in a quest towards attaining banking excellence, the Bankers Institute of the Philippines, Inc. (BAIPHIL) will further uphold its purpose to educate and prime the bankers in the country in this year’s BAIPHIL Training and Development Week, which will be highlighted by the 32nd BAIPHIL Convention (BAICON).

The BAIPHIL Week takes place every second week of March, as declared through Proclamation No. 1248 signed by former president Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo. As
