Inflation quickens to 9-month high

By Luisa Maria Jacinta C. Jocson Reporter

HEADLINE INFLATION accelerated to a nine-month high in July, mainly driven by a spike in electricity rates and food costs, data from the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA) showed.

The consumer price index quickened to 4.4% year on year in July from 3.7% in June, falling within the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas' (BSP) 4%-4.8% forecast.

It was higher than the 4% median estimate in a BusinessWorld poll of 15 analysts conducted last week.

The July print was also the fastest in nine months or since the 4.9% clip in October 2023.

July also ended seven straight months of inflation settling within the central bank's 2-4% target band. Inflation had been within target from December 2023 to June 2024.

In the first seven months of the year, headline inflation averaged 3.7%, above the central bank's 3.3% full-year forecast.

Core inflation, which excludes volatile prices of food and fuel, sharply eased to 2.9% in July from 6.7% a year ago. Core inflation averaged 3.3% in the first seven months.

Trade-in-goods deficit widens to $4.3B in June

By Beatriz Marie D. Cruz Reporter

THE PHILIPPINES' trade-in-goods deficit ballooned to $4.3 billion in June as imports and exports contracted, the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA) said on Tuesday.

Preliminary data from the PSA showed that the country's trade-in-goods balance — the difference between exports and imports — stood at a $4.3-billion deficit in June, 9.3% bigger than the $3.94-billion gap in the same month last year.

Month on month, the June trade gap shrank from the $4.71-billion deficit in May.

For the first six months of the year, the trade deficit narrowed by 9.5% to $25 billion.

The country's balance of trade in goods has been in the red for 109 straight months (nine years) or since the $64.95-million surplus in May 2015.

In June, the value of exports slumped by 17.3% to $5.57 billion from $6.73 billion a year ago, the first double-digit decline since November 2023. Month on month, exports slid by 12%.

This was the lowest export value in 13 months or since $4.92 billion in April last year.

Year to date, exports rose by 3% to $36.41 billion.

On the other hand, the value of imports declined by 7.5% year on year to $9.87 billion in June from $10.67 billion in the same month a year ago. Month on month, it dropped by 10.6%.

The value of imports was the lowest since $9.57 billion in March, the PSA said.

For the first six months, imports slipped by 2.5% to $61.41 billion.

"Exports are among one-year lows and imports also near one-year lows amid slower economic conditions in China, the world's second-biggest economy and among the country's biggest trading partners," Rizal Commercial Banking Corp. Chief Economist Michael L. Ricafort said in a Facebook Messenger chat.

The Development Budget Coordination Committee projects 5% and 2% growth in exports and imports, respectively, this year.

DROP IN ELECTRONICS EXPORTS

Among major types of goods, manufactured goods exports dropped by 21.1% year on year to $4.34 billion in June but still made up the bulk or 78% of the total. Exports of mineral products slipped by 7.7% to $632.4 million.

By commodity group, exports of electronic goods fell by 24.4% to $2.99 billion in June from $3.96 billion a year ago. Electronic products accounted for 53.7% of the country's total exports in June. Among electronic products, semiconductor exports slid by 29.5% to $2.32 billion in June.

Exports of other manufactured goods dropped by 17.36% year on year to $285.56 million, accounting for 5.1% of total exports.

Exports of other mineral products slipped by 16.4% to $252.03 million in June.

The United States remained the top destination for Philippine-made goods, with exports valued at $897.8 million. This made up 16.1% of the country's total exports in June.

BSP chief says 'a little bit less likely' to cut rates

THE BANGKO SENTRAL ng Pilipinas (BSP) is now "a little bit less likely" to cut rates at its Aug. 15 meeting after inflation breached the 2-4% target band in July, its governor said.

"A little bit less likely (to ease) because inflation is high. But we have to look at other numbers," BSP Governor Eli M. Remolona, Jr. told reporters in mixed English and Filipino on the sidelines of an event on Tuesday.

Mr. Remolona said that July inflation was "slightly worse than expected."

"That 4.4% (inflation print), there is a base effect there of 0.3 percentage point. Without the base effect, it's really 4.1%, which is still worse than expected but not that bad because it only slightly breached the ceiling."

Headline inflation accelerated to 4.4% in July from 3.7% in June. This was the fastest inflation print in nine months or since the 4.9% recorded in October 2023.

The July print also ended the seven straight months of inflation settling within the central bank's 2-4% target range.

Asked if the BSP is on track to cut rates this month, Mr. Remolona replied: "Medyo (Somewhat)."

Mr. Remolona earlier signaled that the Monetary Board is on track to begin easing by August, possibly by 25 basis points (bps). Asked if the BSP will hold rates steady, he said: "We are not sure because there is still a lot of data we are looking at."

The BSP chief said they will be able to cut rates if gross domestic product (GDP) growth is weaker than expected. Second-quarter GDP data will be released on Aug. 8 (Thursday).

"If growth is unexpectedly weak, then it looks like our projections of inflation and inflation expectations suggest lower inflation going forward. Then we can cut," he said.

A BusinessWorld poll of 19 economists and analysts yielded a median GDP estimate of 6% for the second quarter. If realized, this would be faster than the preliminary 5.7% expansion in the first quarter and 4.3% in the second quarter of 2023.

The government is targeting 6-7% GDP growth this year.

Mr. Remolona also said he expects the US Federal Reserve to cut in September. "It looks like they will cut because the employment report was a triple whammy."

Global stock markets plunged on Monday amid concern the US central bank has waited too long to begin cutting interest rates. Interest rate futures contracts at the day's end reflected overwhelming bets that the Fed will start cutting borrowing costs next month with a bigger-than-usual 50-bp reduction to its policy rate, Reuters reported.

The Fed kept its benchmark interest rate unchanged in the current 5.25%-5.5% range last week and signaled it was on course to begin cutting rates in September, but that decision was followed by worrying signs the labor market might already have turned.

The central bank is also open to the possibility of an off-cycle rate cut if it does not ease rates next week, Mr. Remolona said.

"We're always open to off-cycle (moves)," he said.

After Aug. 15, the Monetary Board's remaining policy-setting meetings this year are on Oct. 17 and Dec. 19.

The Monetary Board has raised borrowing costs by a cumulative 450 bps from May 2022 to October 2023, bringing the key rate to an over 17-year high of 6.5%. — Luisa Maria Jacinta C. Jocson

Gov't to consider new taxes if revenue collection falls short — Recto

THE GOVERNMENT will only consider introducing new taxes if revenue collection falls short of target, the Department of Finance (DoF) said.

"It's easy to pass a tax law. It's easy to do a tabletop revenue estimate. What's always harder is implementing the law and collecting the tax," Finance Secretary Ralph G. Recto told reporters on the sidelines of a House Committee on Appropriations hearing late on Monday.

He said new taxes may be considered if revenue collections are not enough.

The National Government (NG) aims to collect P4.64 trillion in revenues next year, up 8.77% from this year's projected P4.27-trillion collection. Of this, the government looks to collect P4.33 trillion in tax revenues, 13.41% lower than this year's target.

"It's a high target. Assuming there's a shortfall in that, then we just manage the expenditures," he added.

While Mr. Recto has repeatedly said there are no plans to introduce new taxes, the DoF has urged Congress to approve tax reforms that will generate as much as P28.38 billion in revenues next year.

Priority bills include the value-added tax on digital service providers, excise taxes on single-use plastics and pickup trucks, the rationalization of the mining fiscal regime, the motor vehicle road user's charge, and the Corporate Recovery and Tax Incentives for Enterprises to Maximize Opportunities for Reinvigorating the Economy.

Filomeno S. Sta. Ana III, co-founder and coordinator at the Action for Economic Reforms, said that better tax administration is not enough to fund the government's deficit.

"The challenge that the government faces is to unwind the deficit resulting from the heavy borrowing during the pandemic, and at the same time, it has to sustain high investments in social development, infrastructure, and green energy," he said in a Viber message.

"In this context, careless and wasteful spending is a no-no, and the government is pressured to generate new revenues. Tax administration, with recent economic episodes as a guide, is insufficient," he said in a Viber message.

For 2025, the NG set a deficit ceiling of P1.54 trillion or equivalent to 5.3% of gross domestic product.
