My warmest greetings to you all!

As we celebrate Christmas, we honor the birth of Jesus Christ and the enduring power of hope, faith, and love. This season reminds us of the values that unite us—compassion, generosity, and forgiveness.

In the face of life's challenges, Christmas gives us a moment to reflect and renew our spirit. It calls on us to set aside differences and work together to lift up those who have been left behind, freeing the less fortunate from the chains of poverty.

This is also a time to honor hardworking Filipinos—here and abroad—and to extend our support to those rebuilding their lives after recent typhoons.

From my family to yours, may this season bring joy, harmony, and love to every Filipino home. Together, let us embrace kindness and hope as we look to the future.
